Dear Friends,

We know that the aftermath of COVID-19 will present greater social, environmental, and economic challenges than most of us have ever faced. Some of these challenges are new, while others existed long before the pandemic and have since been exacerbated.

From the recovery of our downtowns, to critical infrastructure improvements, to addressing the geography of equity and inclusion, New Jersey Future is already working tirelessly to make our communities healthier, more resilient, and stronger for everyone.

We invite you to read the op-ed we had published last week on NJ.com that contains our vision of a true recovery for New Jersey. Please join us in making this vision a reality.

In hope,

Peter Kasabach
Executive Director
